The Independent.

Massillon, Wednesday, August 21.

In these days the leaves of newspapers are as numerous, in some sense, as leaves of the forest. Some of our cotemporaries have rather curious ideas as to what these media of thought should contain. We do not refer to those organs in politics, sects, isms, ologies, and such as are devoted to special branches of thought or action—they have their grooves in which to run, and aim to subserve some interest. But the common, every day newspaper, which gathers up local matters, or expands once a year into a political organ, and pretends to be a teacher of the people—what of that? A portion of the managers of these, we think, have singular ideas as to what should be edifying reading to their patrons. Even the best among us not unfrequently make rather queer selections, and maybe get up equally odd original material. But what appears to us as improper in a newspaper is the fashion some have of running after little family matters, or merely private happenings which are transpiring all the time. The idea is to create a sensation, no matter at what expense of feeling it may be to the parties described, with the impression that it will cause people to read the paper. Now this is nothing else than gossipping, and that of no elevating character. What family likes to see their mistakes—even if of a ludicrous character (and that is the kind that brings the highest premiums in the scandal market)—paraded in print before a whole community for the delectation of idlers and thoughtless people? The truth is nobody is partial to these exposures, especially if they are subjects to such gossip. If a person is willfully and willingly perverse in disposition and action, and makes himself obnoxious to those by whom he is surrounded, and thus challenges reproof and rebuke, it is well enough to expose such as a caution to others; but as to an absurdity, especially of a harmless nature, it is better to let it go unprinted than to carelessly wound the feelings of any one. About this time of the year it is very common to see not a few items in the papers announcing youngsters talking over the gate, or spending a social evening on the doorsteps, and all that sort of little Bohemian twaddle. These are but meager hints of the whole series of such squibs, and seriously, what sort of family reading do they afford? Certainly no Franklin or Solomon would grow from such mental nutriment.

We don't feel competent to go into a disquisition on philology or etymology, or any other ology, but in the present aspect of political parties it seems to us that it is necessary to find a word or name by which to characterize them. The term republican and democrat most or all of us have the conceit that we know what is meant by them, but the new party—a sort of hybrid in politics—seems, in the estimation of many, to require an expressive term by which to designate it. Hence we see the leaders calling themselves liberal republicans, others, because of the variegated elements of the party, call it the Dolly Varden, and many other titles are used to signify the same organization. As we understand it the new political firm consists primarily of Horace Greeley, the party of the first part, and a few of his friends, and the late great democratic party constitutes the second part of the firm. Now to boil the two together and call the essence liberal republican is very unjust to the 3,000,000 of democrats. Certainly they are entitled to some consideration in this christening. We can't consistently make the democrats the radix of the needed term, as they, like a flock of sheep for the slaughter, followed their newly found great leader—no matter what he may have said of them for thirty years. Certainly, as Mr. Greeley is the but end of the party his name should be the radix of the term, and not to slight his followers the last syllable of their maiden name should be the suffix—therefore we call the new party GREELEYCRATS. Can any term be more expressive?

Recently an incident is related as having transpired somewhere in the west about a drunken fellow lying on the ground, when a rattlesnake came along and bit him several times—tried to chew him. Singular as it may appear the account goes on to state that the man did not die, but instead the snake suffered the death penalty, as it is supposed to have sucked the benzine out of the human carcase. This story exemplifies what Goldsmith once wrote concerning a fuss made about a mad dog that had bitten a man.

But soon a wonder came to light,
And showed the rogues they lied;
The man recovered from the bite,
The SNAKE it was that died.

Miscellaneous.

PRAYING AT A MARK.

Prof Tyndall has scandalized a great many pious people by suggesting that the efficacy of prayer be decided by test. He prints with approval, in the Contemporary Review, the letter of a correspondentwho asks that a hospital, or a single ward of a hospital, under the care of the best physicians, and with the aid of the best appliances, shall receive the special prayers of the Christian public for a period of not less than three years; and if it shall be found at the end of that time that the rates of mortality are less and the average number of recoveries is greater than in hospitals or wards for which no special intercession has been made, the efficacy of prayer will be at least presumptively established.

The suggestion seems unreasonable if not grotesque. The very idea of praying at a mark strikes the devout and reverent reader as impious. Yet, after all, is not the absurdity of the thing rather in the way in which it is put than in the thing itself? If it exaggerates, it certainly does not caricature the prevalent idea of the efficacy of praying. People pray for all conceivable things. They ask the Almighty to give them this and that and the other object they happen to desire. They constantly beseech Him to work a miracle or a series of miracles for the gratification of their selfish wishes and personal ambition. A very large percentage of the piety of Christendom, instead of exhaling in the sweet incense of gratitude and adoration, or being condensed into acts of self-denial and charity, articulates itself in petitions for material good and goods. Worship is degraded into beggary, and instead of devout and grateful acknowledgments of countless blessings already received, the stereotyped language of devotion is "More." It is no wonder that the finest minds and the most sensitive and reverent hearts are shocked by such a travesty of the most sacred offices and states as the popular notion of prayer, and imagine that they have ceased to pray altogether because they have dropped the dialect of the horse-leech and no longer say "Give, give."

When people believed whatever priests told them, counting even the spirit of inquiry a sin, it was perfectly natural that this traditional notion of prayer should pass unquestioned. But we live in an age of criticism. The spirit of inquiry impregnates the air. Every science is an organized Why. Everything is put to the test of experiment. And it is only natural that thoughtful people everywhere should ask themselves whether praying, as that word is generally used, pays. Does a special object, prayed for ever so fervently, come simply because it was prayed for? To say that one-half, and the most intelligent half, of our people are skeptical upon this point, which lies at the very root and heart of the popular religion of Christendom, is to confess what everybody knows. And so long as this old idea of prayer obtains, so long as men look upon the relations of mankind to Deity as purely personal, requiring merely the asking of favors in a proper manner on the one hand, and their bestowal on the other, we must expect that cool and critical intellects, imbued with the spirit of science, will unwittingly burlesque the whole thing by proposing to demonstrate the efficacy of prayer by praying at a mark.

The fact that religious people are shocked at this proposal is a healthy and encouraging sign. It is just such shocks which show the untenableness of theories and lead to new inquiries and more reasonable views. If this suggestion of Professor Tyndall's correspondent shall have the effect of opening the minds of our religious people to more philosophical and spiritual views of life and duty, God and religion, and all the instinctive acts and sacred offices of human nature, it will do more for the spirit of man than a dozen hospitals could possibly do for his limbs. The skepticism of Christiandom grows very largely out of the patent discrepancy between popular theories of religion and the obvious facts of nature and experience. Here is this matter of prayer. The general notion, and the custom based upon it, implies that we have only earnestly to ask for an object in faith that it will be granted to secure the object, desired. But the facts stares us in the face that things we ask for with all possible earnestness and faith do not come. Poverty pinches, and sickness palsies, and the drought parches the ground, and harvests fail, while congregations wear their knees sore if they do not weary heaven with their intercessions. The dear child is torn from the bleeding heartstrings in spite of the devoutest and most agonizing prayers ever wrung from parental hearts. Here is one class of facts which obtrude themselves so painfully upon our experience that we cannot choose but see and feel them. Then here is another equally valid experience. Health is obtained by obedience to hygienic laws. Disease releases his grip upon the muscles at the command of medical skill. Cleanliness keeps the cholera at bay. Wealth is the natural result of industry and thrift. There was a world of philosophy as well as shrewdness in the remark of the old parson, who prayed that the farmer's fields might have an abundant yield, until he came to one where the soil was very poor: "Praying won't raise potatoes here without manure." The divine forces flow in accordance with laws, and whoever taps these obtains his desire. Everything is conditioned, and only by complying with the conditions which hedge every thing about is any good obtained. And so far as any practical or visible consequences go we may as well whistle at a mark as pray at it.

These facts simply demonstrate that the old idea of prayer is erroneous and untenable. But they do not throw the least discredit upon prayer itself as a state of mind, a tempter and attributte of the heart, an act the most natural and sacred man ever performs. It is born of instincts that are inerradicable, and necessities that come with human growth and experience. It may not be the condition of adding acres to an estate or changing the weather, but it is a condition of intellectual and spiritual health, of peace of mind, vigor of conscience, delicacy and purity of affection, nobleness and exaltation of soul, and spiritual insight. It is the outreach of the spirit of man to the spirit of the Eternal, and establishes a connection between the soul and the sources of life and the sources of light. It is the uplifting of man into a region of serenest thought and influence, where to rise is a benediction and to be is bliss. And whoever has truly worshipped thus in spirit, knows that the act is its own exceeding great reward without praying at a mark. —Golden Age.

THE RAILROAD HOG.

"This seat is taken, sir." All persons who have traveled to any extent are familiar with this formula. It tells the story of the railroad hog—the small-souled, mean, selfish brute, who pays grudgingly for one seat and strains his small wit to hold two. This particular hog wore a plug hat shiny with the genuine Boston gloss, an enameled shirt and closely cropped iron-gray beard. I know his kind. He is an eminently respectable beast, who always pays his debt promptly, takes an interest in Sunday schools, administers to his deceased brother's children out of their patrimony, is the president of joint stock companies, and has biographical eulogies published in the newspapers when he finally kicks the bucket. I knew the hog lied when he said "This seat is taken, sir," but I found one "that was not taken, sir," and watched him to see how many times he would reproduce the falsehood. The coach was rather full and would you believe it, the miserable hog told sixteen separate and distinct lies in order to gratify his mean selfishness. Enough to sink a healthier soul to perdition. He varied the formula; one time it was a wave of the hand and a look at the rear of the car to indicate that the holder of the seat had gone for a drink of water and would be back soon. Another time, to the inquiry of a mild-mannered and timid questioner, he replied by a solid stare, and then spreading himself a little wider, he resumed the perusal of his newspaper.

I was tempted to crawl up behind him and hiss into his ear, "You're an awful liar." But I had my revenge. A big red-faced two hundred pounder got in at a way station. He was sweaty to a fearful degree. His feet smelt like valerianate of ammonia and rotten fish, and his breath was a hot, stinking sirrocco, based on bad whisky and onions. This he moth preferred to settle himself in the seat that was taken. "This seat is—" began the hog. "Well, I guess I'll take it till the other fellow comes," and down he plumped, partially crushing the hog in his descent. The latter frowned and began to bluster, but the red-faced ruffian soon took that out of him with a threat to swallow him whole—to pitch him out the window, and to make many other dispositions of him in case he didn't simmer down. Our porcine friend simmered, and then the barbarian grew good humored. He told funny anecdotes and poked the hog in the ribs. He wanted to know where he was from and where he was going. He spat tobacco juice across him out of the window, spattering his shirt front, between his boots and all around. He offered him a "cheer" every time he took out his plug of navy. The hog perspired freely, and shivered with disgust. Finally he crawled out and stood up for forty miles until another seat was vacated.

An Omaha school-boy lately defined a lady to be "a grown up girl, who doesn't cuss nor swear."

SUMMER HEATS IN VARIOUS COUNTRIES.

The following is taken from the Scientific American:

Thibet, situated in Central Asia, between the thirtieth and thirty-eighth parallels of north latitude, is a decidedly hot country, so hot, indeed, that even the fiercest heat which the firemen in sea going steamers have to endure is comparatively insignificant beside its midsummer temperature. "Misery loves company," and as the reader sits slowly melting with the thermometer at 68 degrees Far., he will probably gather consolation from the knowledge that the unfortunate inhabitants of the above mentioned country are worse off than himself. The intense heat, reaching 150 deg. doubtless prevents their remaining either in their houses or their garments during the day, but such is the inconsistency of the weather that if they venture to remain out of doors or to continue in their primitive costume throughout the night, they may possibly be frozen to death before morning.

Senegal in Africa, and the island of Gaudeloupe in the West Indies are next to Thibet in summer heat; the weather is variable, but often reaches a temperature of 130 deg. Stil more changeable is the climate of the great desert of Sahara, where the thermometer, after rising to 130 deg. during the day, at nightfall descends to among the fifties. In Persia, fearful plagues and pestilences are bred by an atmosphere heated to 125 deg. At Calcutta and on the Delta of the Ganges, points from which the Asiatic cholera is said to begin its western march, the mercury rises to 120 deg., while in Central America the same limit is attained.

In the jungles of Affghanistan and in the deserts of Egypt 110 degrees is the maximum. Strange to say, the same high temperature is reached in some of the interior valleys of California, although the average of the surrounding country is much lower. At Cape Colony, the diamond diggings in Africa, and some parts of Utah territory, the midsummer heat is 105 deg. This is next greatest in Greece, reaching 104 deg.; then comes Arabia, 103 degrees, the arid deserts of that country being less heated than the vast expanse of Sahara. Now follows a strange anomaly: It will hardly be credited that our blue nosed neighbors in Canada ever experience such a temperature, but it is nevertheless a fact that at Montreal the extreme summer heat is often as high as that of the deserts of Arabia, both being 103 deg.

Our own state—New York—is not far behind, its summer limit being 102 degrees. Spain, Upper India, Canton, China, the island of Jamaica, and most of our southern states about 100 deg. With the exception of New York, 98 deg. is the highest range in the northern states. The islands of Mauritius is the next on the list, having a summer temperature of 96 deg., then comes Sierra Leone in Africa and Guiana in in South America, both 94 deg.; then Ceylon, 92 deg. Through France, in St. Petersburgh, Denmark, Belgium, Barmah, Shanghai in China, Penang, the Sandwich islands, Buenos Ayres, and the islands of Bourbon and Trinidad, the average is 90 deg. That of Nova Scotia and the majority of the Azores islands is 87 deg. England, Ireland, Sicily, Siam and Peru in summer are of about the same temperature, not exceeding 85 deg. Pekin in China, Portugal and Natal Colony in Africa, all have mild summers, 80 deg. being the extreme. In Siberia, 77 deg. is the limit. In western and southern Australia and the eastern and western parts of Scotland the temperature does not rise above 75 deg. In Italy, Venezuela, and Madeira 73 deg. is the maximum.

The thermometer in Prussia, Victoria Land, and New Zealand rarely rises above 70 deg.; in New South Wales not above 68 deg., nor in Switzerland and Hungary above 66 deg. Colden, Northern Siberia, Tasmania, and Moscow in Russia, where 65 deg. is the extreme limit. Norway, Greenland, and Newfoundland have no weather warmer than 60 deg.; 55 is the maximum for central Scotland, the Orkney Isles, Patagonia and the Falkland Islands; and, finally amid the ice and snow of the Arctic regions, the heat of midsummer is below 50 deg.

Iceland, however is colder still. The northern portions of that country virtually have no summer; on its southern shores, which are swept by the Gulf Stream, the temperature sometimes rises to 45 deg. Next comes Nova Zembla, bleakest and most inhospitable of islands, lying frozen in the Arctic ocean, on the confines of Northern Asia. It can be truly said that in that country there is no summer; for even in these midsummer days, while we suffer under the intense heat, there the mercury fails to rise beyond 34 deg—two degrees above the freezing point—and this is the very extreme of temperature.

A lady correspondent thus writes from London: "I have been obliged to partly relearn the English language. Words here do not always convey the same meaning as in America. There are no railroads but 'railways,' no depots but 'stations,' no firemen but 'strokers,' no cars but carriages' There seem to be no buggies in England. There are no stores but shops. Neither an inn nor a public house is obliged to entertain travelers with other accommodations than beer or spirits. To be fed and lodged one must go to a tavern or hotel. When you ask for beer they give you porter. Lager is unknown. There is no washing and ironing but 'washing and mangling.' Beans are known as haricots' (the plebeians term them aricots). The word corn stands for most any kind of grain. There is no Indian meal but corn flour. A streak of sunshine once an hour constitutes a fine day. No street cars but tramways, no pitchers but jugs.

ECCENTRICITY.

The following singular instance of eccentricity, illustrating the close connection of this condition of the mind with insanity, as related by Professor Hammond in his work on diseases of the nervous system:

A lady had since her childhood shown a singularity of conduct as regarded her table furniture, which she would have of no other material than copper. She carried this fancy to such an extent that even the knives were made of copper. People laughed at her, and tried to reason her out of her whim, but in vain. In no other respect was there any evidence of mental aberration. She was intelligent, by no means excitable, and in the enjoyment of excellent health. An uncle had, however, died insane. A trifling circumstance started in her a new train of thought, and excited emotions which she could not control. She read in the morning paper that a Mr. Kopperman had arrived at one of the hotels, and she announced her determination to call on him. Her friends endeavored to dissuade her, but without avail. She went to the hotel and was told that he had just left for Chicago. Without returning to her home, she bought a ticket for Chicago, and actually started on the next train for that city. The telegraph, however, overtook her, and she was brought back from Rochester raving of her love for a man whom she had never seen, and whose name alone had been associated in her mind with her fancy for copper table furniture. She died of acute mania within a month—Scribner's Monthly.

An English paper, which rejoices in the name of Ladies Own, thus plays tricks with rhyme and reason:

"It is many years since I fell in love
With Jane Jerusha Skeggs, the handsomest country girl, by far, that ever went on legs. By meadow, creek, and wood and dell, so often did we walk, and the moonlight smiled on her melting lips, and the night winds learned our talk. Jane Jerusha was all to me, for my heart was young and true, and loved with a double and twisted love, and a love that was honest too. I roamed all over the neighbor's farms, and I robbed the wildwood bowers, and tore my trousers and scratched
my hands in search of choicest flowers.
In my joyous love I brought these to my Jerusha Jane; but I wouldn't be so foolish now, if I were a boy again.
A city chap then came along, all dressed up in fine clothes, with a shiny hat and a shiny vest, and a moustache under his nose. He talked to her of singing schools (for her father owned a farm,) and she left me, the country love, and took the new chap's arm.
And all that night I never slept, nor could I eat next day, for I loved that girl with a fervent love that nought could drive away. I strove to win her back to me, but it was all in vain; the city chap with the hairy lip, married Jerusha Jane. And my poor heart was sick and sore until the thought struck me, that just as good fish remained as ever was, caught in the sea.
So I went to the Methodist church one night, and saw a dark brown curl peeping from under a gypsy hat, and I married that very girl. And many years have passed and gone, and I think my loss my gain, and I often bless that hairy chap that stole Jerusha Jane.

The following comparative statements concerning the two great tunnels of the world are interesting; Mont Cenis Tunnel—length 12,236 meters or nearly 8 miles, width, 26 feet 8 inches; height, 20 feet; cost, $13,000,000; time occupied in construction, nine years; number of workmen employed about 2,000. Hoosac Tunnel—length, 26,061 feet or nearly 5 miles; width, 24 feet; height 21 feet; cost about $9,000,000; time of construction, when nearly completed twenty years; number of workmen employed about 700 at present, but much less during most of the time the work has been prosecuted. There is every reason to believe that the Hoosac Tunnel will be completed before March 15, 1874—the date named in the contract.

The following Greeley speech was delivered at Davenport, Iowa, on Saturday week under the inspiration of the great "Liberal victory in North Carolina."

"I was a rebel soldier—Thirteenth Alabama, Hill's division of Longstreet's corps, that was never whipped by any d—d Yankee regiment that ever marched! Hurrah for Greeley! Grant is a ——. Greeley was Jeff Davis' friend, and Jeff Davis is the best man that ever walked. Jeff Davis is for Greeley. Hurrah for Greeley! Any man that wants to have niggers voting, is a bloody coward! Any man that says a nigger's as good as me is a thief! I'll live and die a Greeley man. Say, friends, ain't I right?"

During a thunder storm a mother told a little girl that the thunder was God's voice. By and by it thundered again, when the child exclaimed, "There, he's hollerin again!" Another little girl was out on the piazza, when, for the first time, she saw it lightning. She came in, exclaiming, "Mother, the moon just came by, all broken to pieces."

On the 10th of July, 1867, we began to print the ticket, Constitutional Amendment—which proposed to strike the word white out of the organic law of the state—and the vote on the question that year was 216.987 for and 253,348 against the amendment—a majority against of 38.353. Then there were 12,276 who did not vote on the question, but were counted against it, which made an aggregate of 50,629 against the proposed measure. That year the democrats had a majority of seven on joint ballot in the legislature. Notwithstanding this result the ticket for the amendment was kept at the head of these columns. Stark county gave a majority of 660 against the amendment in 1867. These two talismanic words were kept at our mast head till Feb. 16, 1870, when not only Stark county, but the state of Ohio, and thirty of the thirty-six states ratified the amendment. In 1867 the sight of crow would cause a democrat to vomit—in five short years many of the party eat crow, Greedily.

Mr. Stanley, the New York Herald agent who found Dr. Livingstone in Africa, has, since his return to Europe, been considerably lionized. His achievments are regarded as among the wonderful events of the times. Yet there are those in this country who seem to doubt the authenticity of his narrative—put him down as an unscrupulous Bohemian, who will do anything to make himself a nine days marvel. Time will tell whether Mr. S. has narrated the truth—and it looks that way to the English people, who claim to be competent judges in the matter—or whether those who dispute the correctness of his story are right. If the world has been bored with a groundless idea in this matter, it will prove as great a sell as the moon hoax. But we should not condemn hastily.

Elsewhere we have given a little attention, in to-day's paper, to the action of the late democracy in regard to the constitutional amendment. Five years ago they boasted a majority of more than 50.000 in Ohio against colored men voting. How do they stand on that question now? In the south hosts of the Greeleyerats condemn the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments as unconstitutional, and therefore of no effect. and if they attain power, with Greeley at their head, they will make terrible if not successful efforts to overthrow these amendments. Next in order then, comes the payment of the rebel debt, redemption of confederate bonds, payment of rebel soldiers and remuneration for four millions of emancipated slaves. These are some of the issues of the day, and if we are to believe the leaders of the democracy they are now living subjects for their advocacy.

In consequence of an attack of sickness Hon. L. D. Woodworth, republican candidate for congress, could not attend the ratification meeting at Canton on Saturday evening the 10th inst. but they had a lively, encouraging time, and put all the friends in a good humor. It is hoped Mr. W. will soon be out, and make a visit to this place

We can hardly realize the fact, but the latest news from Australasia states that they have had recently intensely cold weather—so cold that ice makes bridges across the rivers. That part of the globe is our antipodes, and while we are freezing here in winter they are sweating with summer heat.

Present indications seem favorable to the idea that Charles O'Connor, a leading lawyer of New York, will be the candidate for president of the straight out democracy. He won't go for Grant or Greeley.

Brick Pomeroy is fiercely at work with his political broadaxe, and slashes away at everything that is opposed to the simon pure democracy. The Democrat is embellished with cuts, and although rough they are expressive.

A writer of these days in referring to the doctrine of compensation or retribution, says he knows of no more striking example of punishment following great sins than the infliction of Horace Greeley on the democracy as their presidential candidate. As they have been great sinners so must they have correspondingly severe punishment, and they have it in liberal measure.

Another writer not very reverently says, that the present multiplicity and popularity of camp meetings is evidence that many people enjoy them as regular Sunday amusements. In this connection a Cincinnati clergyman speaks of Sunday camp meeting trains as the engineering of the devil.

Last week we got the election figures of North Carolina a little mixed. Taking the Tribune Almanac for a guide we find this result. In 1868 the vote for Grant was 92,226, Seymour 84,090—majority for Grant, 12,136. In 1870 the majority for Shipp, democrat, for attorney general was 4,088. In 1871 on the convention question the republican vote against was 95,352, democrats for 86,007—majority against 9,345. So the Old North State has been bobbin' about in politics. Now it is claimed to be republican by some 1,500 to 2,000 majority.

Lowell Mason, the distinguished music composer, died at Newark, N. J. His works are well known to many of the American music loving people, and he did much to create and cultivate a public taste for the grand science of which he was one of the noted masters.

An additional load of Chinamen is reported to have lately been added to those previously landed at Fallston, Pa., to aid in the cutlery establishment.

Mace and O'Baldwin, two national prize fighters, agreed to have a combat at some place in Maryland, a few days ago, but Grant's minions got wind of what was up, arrested the parties, and thus stoped the proposed fight, whereat the hundreds of bruisers who went many miles to see the fun are much cross. As we have before said, let these combative fellews, if they must pound each other, be put in a pen by themselves and hammer away till they are satisfied, and prize-fighting soon would be among the lost arts.

Several vessels are reported to be in a quarantine at New York, on which are numerous cases of yellow fever. It is apprehended that with all the care possible the epidemic will soon be in the city, and if as contagious as some claim, it will be very apt to take off many of the dirty people, topers and such.

The Cleveland & Mahoning Valley R. R. Co., the Niles & New Lisbon R. R. Co, and the Liberty & Vienna R. R. have been consolidated under the name of the Cleveland & Mahoning Valley Railroad.

A liquor seller at Niles the other day was arrested and fined $73, including costs, for violating a town ordinance. More are on the way to a like fate,—so says the Independent.

Some days ago a jail delivery took place at Ravenna, where eight prisoners got out of limbo. All but one has been recaptured.

Within the last two weeks the lightning has been doing considerable execution in many places, sometimes attended with fatal results. These demonstrations are unusual for their frequency.

Barnard, one of the corrupt judges of New York, has lately been tried before a legislative committee appointed for that purpose, and found guilty by a unanimity seldom witnessed. By all accounts he has been a great rascal and a model democrat.

Nasby's last letter is rather sorrowful—it gives an account of death of his faithful elder, Elkanah Pennybacker. For many years he was a faithful brother of the church, and during his life time absorbed any number of barrels of whisky. But judgment came at last, says his biographer. The deceased withstood, for three score and more years, the essence of Kentucky Bourbon, but when Greeley came to be inflicted on the party he could not stand that—he wilted away and gave up the ghost. Who will be his successor the curious world is anxious to know.

A French inventor has patented an apparatus for swimmers. For the hands he has a large membranous fin, which is held in its place by loops passing over the fingers and a strap around the waist. Their effect is to reduce very much the effect required to swim without them. But the greatest ingenuity is displayed in the form and fitness of the fins for the legs, which are attached to the ankles, and are so formed that they act upon the water both in the movement of bringing the legs together and throwing them back. They act so finely in "treading water," as the swimmers call it, that one can really walk, if not on the water, at least in it. The old swimmer has no trouble in using the fins the first trial, and is surprised to find with what ease he can swim without exhaustion.

The Wisconsin legislature, just adjourned, closed its labors with an unique liquor law. Section four provides that "It shall be unlawful within this state for any person to become intoxicated." The offense is punished from one day to two months with a contingent imprisonment at the discretion of the court. Any person found drunk may be taken in charge by any good Samaritan until sober, at which time the little bill of expenses, with a fee of $2 per diem, must be paid.

On last Thursday several of the benevolent associations connected with the Catholic churches of this place and vicinity, formed a procession and marched along some of the principal streets, preceeded by the Massillon Silver Band. The men made a rather fine appearance, all being provided with regalia as suitable to the wants of the orders indicate. In the procession were several national flags, and also a number of beautiful banners, handsomely painted with significant emblems. The day, we understand, was a holliday which many members of that denomination observe in a becoming manner.

PERSONAL.—Our fellow citizen, Capt. Isaac Ulman, has formed a partnership with W. B. Porter, Esq., of Massillon, in the practice of law. Mr. Ulman has long been a citizen of this place and we regret very much to lose him. Social and kind in his bearing to every one, he has won for himself in this county, hosts of warm, personal and political friends. At the close of his term of clerk of the court he engaged in the legal profession, in which he has been eminently successful as a practioner and advocate. We take pleasure in commending him to the good people of 'Molly Stark.'—Carroll Free Press

WHY WE PREFER GENERAL GRANT

The re-election of General Grant will be something more than a mere party triumph; it will be the voice of the people indorsing an honest, economical, and patriotic administration of public affairs.

The administration of president Grant has been tried, and not found wanting. Individual, state, and national interests have prospered. The laborer receives better wages than ever before; the manufacturer has all he can do; the products of the farm command good prices; the national debt has been decreased over $331,000,000 in a little more than three years; taxes have been reduced since 1866 $228,000.000, and the policy of the administration is to carry the reduction still further; the Indians are no longer a terror to our frontier settlers; the rights of law-abiding citizens are respected and protected every where; and our nation, thanks to General Grant and his wise policy, is at peace with the whole world.

This is the picture the party presents to day, after more than twelve years of power. No true republican can turn away from so glorious a record. Tens of thousands of honest democrats throughout the land have no desire to change it, and in the the coming election will use their influence to make it still grander in the future.

What the nation wants is a settled policy, and for this reason the people indorse the policy of Grant. It has proven successful in the past, and that is the best evidence that it will succeed in the future. The country cannot afford to try experiments under Horace Greeley, with his erratic notions of statesmanship. He would disturb every element of national harmony, and bring about a financial crisis in less than six months from the date of his inauguration. It is useless to say he might turn out all right. We can not afford to change a certainty for an uncertainty. We know what General Grant is, what he has done, and what he will do. Grant has firmness and wisdom, and in every sense of the term is a practical man; Greeley is deficient in all these qualities. He may be a good editor—but even on this point we have grave doubts—but he has not the strong traits of character to make a safe president. For this reason the people, irrespective of party, have united on General Grant as the safest man to preside over the affairs of the nation, and we believe he will be elected by the largest popular vote ever given to a presidential candidate.—Broadside.

The brilliant stories told of the diamond fields of Africa are likely to become dimmed and overshadowed quite by those of California. Gems to the value of $200.000 have been washed out of a ton and a half of gravel. The sapphires and rubies are so plentiful as to be spoken of with the greatest indifference. merely, "several pounds have been taken out." Of the diamonds, one in the rough weighs 162 carats. The sapphires are from the size of a pigeon egg down to the pale little particles. These fields of wealth are near the head waters of the Rio Colorado, Chiquito, and were discovered two years ago by two miners by the names of Arnold and Slack. A company to work the mines has been formed, and we may soon hope to see our diamond market flooded by stones of home production.

KENT JARVIS.

Massillon, O. April 24, 1872.—tf

DR. FISHBLATT

HAS ARRIVED AT THE

AMERICAN HOUSE,

MASSILLON, O.

On Wednesday, August 21st,

WILL REMAIN FOUR DAYS,

Where he can be consulted on.

Diseases of the Kidneys

AND

Diseases of the Bladder

Such as Stricture, Weakness and General Debility.

DR. FISHBLATT

Has discovered the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedy in the world for weakness in the back or limbs, strictures, affections of the kidneys or bladder, involuntary emissions, impotency, general debility, nervousness, dyspepsia, languor, low spirits, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight or giddiness, disease of the head, throat or skin, affections of the lungs, liver, stomach, or bowels, those terrible disorders arising from solitary habits of youth—secret and solitary practices, more fatal to victims than the song of the syrens to the mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes and and anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN,

especially, who have become the victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening senates with the thunderings of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married persons, or young men and ladies contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, especially cured. He who places himself under the care of Dr Fishblatt, may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely on his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS

Immediately cured, and full vigor restored Distressing affliction, which renders life miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgence. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is sooner lost by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Beside being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the physical and mental functions weakened, loss of procreative power, nervous irritability, dyspepsia, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, constitutional debility, and wasting of the frame, cough, consumption, decay and early death.

Dr Fishblatt graduated from one of the most eminent colleges in the United States; has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness with derangement of mind, were cured immediately

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr Fishblatt addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgencies and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the back and limbs, pain in the breast, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, nervous irritability, symptoms of consumption, derangement of the digestive functions, &c

MENTALLY.—The effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebeding, aversion to society, self distrust, love of solitude, timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of consumption.

YOUNG MEN

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both body and mind, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man the hope of the country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must before contemplating

Reflect, that a sound body and mind are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospects hourly darken to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

A Perilous Season.

Glorious and delightful as the summer weather is, its tropical heat is a severe trial to the vital powers. Even the strongest are sometimes prostrated by its effects. The common phrase applied to this condition of the body is general debility. Now, general debility arises from, and includes a variety of ailments. The liver is more or less affected, the bowels are either constipated or too much relaxed, the stomach but half performs the work of digestion, the appetite is poor, and the spirits depressed. This is what is called general debility. It is a general disarrangement of all the physical functions, and requires as a remedy a medicine that will regulate them all. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is specially adapted to this purpose. Its general operation is not confined to a single organ. If the liver is affected, it restores its tone. If the stomach is torpid, it regenerates it. If the nerves are tremulous and weak, it braces and reinforces them. If the mind, which ever sympathises with the body, is gloomy and despondent, it relieves the difficulty, and soon brings the whole mechanism of the body into harmony with the laws of health.

There is no civilized nation in the Western Hemisphere in which the utility of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a tonic, corrective, and antibilious medicine, is not known and appreciated. Throughout the tropics, it is considered, both by the people and the profession, the standard specific. While it is a medicine for all seasons and all climates, it is especially suited to the complaints generated by the weather, being the purest and best vegetable stimulant in the world.

Beware of the Bitters made of acid and dangerous materials, which unscrupulous parties are endeavoring to foist upon the people. Their name is legion, and the public has no guarantee that they are not poisonous. Address to the trade remedy, Hostetter's Bitters, sold only in glass, and never in kegs or barrels.

THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD

In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above pointed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's most sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest med cal discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful purifying and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy. For the cure of Habitual Constipation of the bowels it is a never failing remedy, and those who have used it for this purpose are loud in its praise.

It is a mark of the unsuccessful man, that he invariably locks his stable door when the horse has been stolen. This sort of wisdom never thinks about bodily health until it is gone. But just as much as any disease has become seated, the power of the system to resist and throw it off is weakened; hence time is all important. For dyspepsia, all diseases of the liver, stomach, skin and Kidneys, and all that begin in vitiated blood, do not wait until the trouble is confirmed, but attack it by a timely use of Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters. 479 4w

The last number of the Alliance Monitor comes to us enlarged. It is now a ten column paper, and very much improved in appearance since it is printed on a steam press. This looks like unmistakable indications of prosperity—for a ten column paper is a big venture. Bro Brown, with the efficient editorial aid he has, will be sure to make the Monitor a success.

Bro. Stelling, of Harrisburgh, occupied the pulpit at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning, and as usual preached with much acceptance. In the evening Bro Hale preached an earnest, searching discourse, in the same church to an attentive congregation of listeners. His condemnation of jealousy, even among the churches, was not out of place—though we see little of it here.

After services when Bro Hale went out of the church to find his horse and carriage, to his consternation both were gone. It is supposed, as the animal was somewhat restive, he got loose from the hitching post, and was not found until next morning, when he was discovered in the mill race, somehow in a position to not get further along. Fortunate y neither horse or carriage was materially injured.

In last week's Massillon correspondence of the Canton Bg Democrat, where some account is given of the lightning's doings on the 12th inst, it is printed that Messrs Belong & Crawford's establishment was among the places visited by a flash. Mr. Mong will hardly know himself by that spell. Of course, it is a typographical error—these names sometimes appear very whimsical in their orthography, especially if taken from manuscript.

Last Sunday Bro. Hingeley, pastor of the M E church, was in attendance at the camp meeting, but his pulpit was filled by Bro John R Hoover, who we understand, administered wholesome reproof to the young men about attending horse racing, and to the young women who carry, posterially, such a flourish of dry goods, and great knobs of hair. We heard a women preaching at the camp meeting last Sunday, who, if appearances did not deceive the spectator, carried a fine specimen of borrowed hair on the organ of philoprogenitiveness; also a preacher is reported to have been present who, rumor says, did pay some little attention to the rapidity of horseflesh two or three weeks ago at the driving park. Let Bro Hoover pitch into the sinners—they need reproof.

Levi Stump, Esq., one of the well to do farmers of Perry tp., has put up a model handsome, large dwelling house, and when finished will equal if not surpass anything of the kind in this part of the country.

A tabular statement of stock supposed to be from Columbus, gives the following results for Stark county:

	1871	1872	Increase
No Horses,	12,737	13,140	403
Cattle.	29,156	34,756	5,60
Mules,	207	216	9
Sheep,	67,431	71,053	3,622
Hogs,	31,881	39,992	3,111

At the Canton camp meeting there were probably more than one hundred tents many of them provided with the needed conveniences of life. Then there was a bookstore, postoffice, barber shop, milk depot, medicine tent, and plenty of boarding houses.

Late transfers of real estate in this city and near are as follows: C. E Jarvis to L S. Cecil, part of lot $225—P. Lucas to C. Koch part of lot $2,200—Sheriff Baxter to Wm. Smith 40 acres in Perry tp, $3,000.

Apples are so plenty all over this part of the country as to be almost a drug in the market. And they are generally turning out good. Pears are also abundant. Peaches here will not be plenty, but in other places they are prolific, while grapes promise a fine crop to the north of us.

For the last few days the papers, or at least many of them, have been learnedly ventilating themselves at the Swiss man's comet, which did not come in the expected shape. Quotations from encyclopedias and utterances from astronomers, full of big words are laid before the people with all the gravity imaginable, as though the writers and publishers were as familiar with the subject discussed as going to dinner.

In the last number of the Mahoning Register we find an able address by Walter Campbell, Esq., delivered at Youngstown to the republicans of that place, in which he discusses the political issues of the day with clearness and force which but few speakers are master of. In his childhood Mr C was unfortunately made blind, but he has attained a classical education, and notwithstanding this sad calamity, is one of the brightest intellects of the times He is a native of Salem, but is now a member of the bar at Youngstown.

C B Farwell, of Chicago, says that MATILDA FLETCHER, is known throughout the west as an able and eloquent speaker. Having been invited by the state central committee of Iowa and Ohio to assist in the canvass, she has decided to do so. She cannot fail to greatly aid the cause of Grant and Wilson in which she is so earnestly engaged. Would it not be well for those having charge of this part of the political programme to correspond with Mr Farwell, of Chicago, and thus receive a visit from this able and earnest advocate of republican principles?

As may be seen by his notice elsewhere Prof Knight is again among us, and proposes to impart instruction in the science of music. His efforts and labors here, so far as we can learn, were crowned with success, and we trust our citizens will feel like liberally patronizing him. Our children all like music, and are willing to be taught in this now much needed branch of education Prof K is engaged by our school board to spend a part of the time in instructing the children who attend the day schools. Our union schools begin on the first Monday in September

Not a few of our people are desirous of getting up some kind of a fair at the driving park, where mechanics, manufacturers, merchants and all classes engaged in useful avocations—and why not include farmers, the most needed branch of industry there is,—so as to compare productions and thus stimulate improvement. No avocation of life has yet attained perfection, and perhaps never will, but this is no reason why efforts should not be made in that direction. Will somebody better posted give us an essay for publication on this subject? It is a theme well worthy of discussion, and one which is entitled to consideration.

THE GREAT NORTHERN OHIO FAIR.

We publish in another column the advertisement of the Northern Ohio Fair, to be held in the city of Cleveland, September 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, and 14th, 1872.

The interest which has centered in this great enterprise throughout the country, cannot but be increased the present season, in view of the improvements which have been made in the grounds and buildings, and the numerous attractions offered. We are informed that the hitherto extensive grounds have been enlarged, until they now constitute a magnificent park of one hundred acres, adorned with groves, gardens, lawns, artificial lakes, fountains, etc., rendering them the most beautiful as well as the most extensive in the country.

Important additions have been made to the permanent buildings, by which 18,000 square feet of exhibition rooms are secured, (an increase of 18,000 feet over last year), and those deficiencies remedied which the experiences of two seasons have brought to light. All the railroads leading to the city will carry at half fare. Arrangements have been made for furnishing 75,000 people with cheap and substantial meals, and for conveying to and from the grounds an equal number. The L S & M. S. R. R. has laid a third track to the grounds, and a double track will be completed most of the distance upon the St. Clair street railroad, by which means abundant facilities of transportation are secured. Our readers will gain an idea of the determination of the directors of this fair to secure attractions, as well as to reward exhibitors, by the announcement that $30,000 are to be paid in premiums, and that purses have been offered which will attract many of the most noted horses in the country to the races, which will be held each day of the fair. The fair grounds and the extensive trotting and running parks are connected by an elevated bridge over St. Clair Street, by which an easy passage from one to the other is secured, a single ticket, costing 50 cents, admitting to both the fair and races. Those who have attended the Northern Ohio Fair in former years, taking into consideration the improvements which have been made, the liberal premiums which are offered, the high character of the gentlemen who have the enterprise in charge, as well as its past successes, will support us in the belief that the exhibition this year will be one of the largest ever held in the west, and an attraction which none should neglect to witness!

Although the camp meeting at Canton was attended by large numbers of people, as last Sunday, it is thought that there were not as many present as were at the same place in 1871. One reason of this is said to be that another meeting of a similar character was in progress, at the same time, not many miles distant. As far as we could see the people and ministers who took a leading part in the exercises are thoroughly in earnest—and all their preachings, experiences, and exhortations aimed to increase their advancement in Christian character. "Holiness to the Lord" is the motto on the stand where the preachers and leaders were gathered, and the theme of several of the principal speakers, was sanctification—a theological position which we understand aims to make the professor perfect—or at least as near'y so as the infirmities of human nature will permit. On Sunday morning and at 2 P. M. there was not much formal preaching, but much of the time was spent in detailing experiences, by those who participated. A Baptist brother, was present who preaches to a Philadelphia congregation 3 o'clock arrived, the time at which he was to speak, many were curious to hear what he had to say. He did not preach in the formal sense, but occupied an hour or maybe more in giving the particulars of his religious experience. It did not seem to be different from that of others, only it was imparted with more particularity. Singing, exhortation, prayer and all the other appliances ordinarily resorted to were the order of the day. A large tent was used by a German preacher, and occupied by numerous hearers, who discoursed in their tongue—another larger tent was filled with attentive listeners, in the forenoon of Sunday. A lady from Philadelphia was the prominent exhorter at at this place, and a number of young people, to whom she especially addressed her remarks, were induced to go forward for the benefit of prayers The meeting continues till to morrow. Good order generally prevailed, as an adequate police force was on the ground, whose duty it was to see that the rules were lived up to. Of all these efforts to make people better of course no one wishing the welfare of his race will complain—to the manner of doing this thing some may find objections. Doubtless the mass of the people who attended this meeting sincerely meant it for the best, and behaved accordingly, yet with all this there was another class on the ground who are of quite a different character. While preaching, praying, exhortation and other religious agencies were at work, trying to make people more prayerful and devout there were thieves and other exceptional people on the ground, and complaints are made that property was abstracted in not a few instances. We hope that such rascals will be arrested and duly punished—they are a disgrace to their race.

E D. McClymonds, of Massillon, presents his name as a candidate for the office of Probate Judge, subject to the preference of the voters of Stark county, and in harmony with the liberal movement being inaugurated.

THE NEW FAMILY

SINGER SEWING MACHINE

The undersigned has opened rooms for the sale of this celebrated Sewing Machine, three doors north from McLain, Dangler & Co's store, Erie street, Massillon, O., where he intends to keep on hand a full assortment of Sewing Machines, needles, attachments, and findings for all machines. Silks and threads of best quality.

This NEW FAMILY MACHINE Is capable of a range and variety of work such as was thought impossible to perform by machinery. We claim and can show that it is the cheapest, most beautiful, delicately arranged, nicely adjusted, easily operated, and smoothly running of all family sewing machines. It is remarkable not only for the range and variety of its sewings but also for the variety and different kinds of texture which it will sew with equal facility and perfection, using silk twist, linen or cotton thread, fine or coarse, making the interlocked elastic stitch, alike on both sides of the fabric sewn. Thus, beaver cloth, or leather, may be sewn with great strength and uniformity of stich; and, in a moment, this willing and never wearying instrument may be adjusted for fine work on gauze or gossamer tissue, or the tucking of tartan or ruffling, or almost any other work which delicate fingers have been known to perform.

Purchasers wishing to buy a machine are requested to call and examine our prices &c., before purchasing elsewhere.

DR. CARPENTER,

136 Mulberry street, Newark, N. J.,

Is now treating successfully CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, with his Compound Medicated Inhalations, Concentrated Food and Cough Syrup.

During the past ten years Dr. Carpenter has treated and cured thousands of cases of the above named diseases, and has now in his possession certificates of cures from every part of the country. The inhalation is breathed directly into the lungs, soothing and healing over all inflamed surfaces, entering into the blood, it imparts vitality as it permeates to every part of the system. The sensation is not unpleasant, and the first inhalation often gives very decided relief, particularly when there is much difficulty of breathing. Under the influence of my remedies, the cough soon grows easier, the night sweats cease, the hectic flush vanishes, and with improving digestion the patient rapidly gains strength, and health is again within his grasp.

The concentrated food rapidly builds up the most debilitated patient, presenting to the stomach food all ready to be assimilated and made into good, rich, healthy blood

The cough syrup is to be taken at night to alleviate the cough and enable the patient to obtain sleep. Full directions accompany each box of my remedies, which consists of

One Inhaler, one bottle of Alterative Inhalant, one bottle of Soothing Febrifuge Inhalant, one bottle of Anti-Hœmorragic Inhalant, one bottle of Concentrated Food, and one bottle Cough Syrup.

The man who works for his living should marry a woman taller than himself. 'The laborer is worthy of higher.'

My dear sir, I will pay you in time, and since time is money, the longer you wait the surer you will be of your pay."

Crowds of negroes were baptized at St. Louis recently. One old lady, after she got out exclaimed: 'Bress de Lord; dat's five times I'se been baptized.

A young lady of Clark Co., Mo,, advertises for a husband who will stay in 'o nights, as she has been very 'superstitious' since her father 'dide,' and is 'afrade of goasts.'

In New Hampshire, the following is posted on a fence: "Notiis—Know kow is alloud in these medders, eny men or women letten thare kows run the rode, wot gits inter my medders aforeseed shall have his tail cut orf by me, Obadiah Rogers.'

Joe Geiger has narrowed the campaign down to this point—Either the democratic was the most corrupt party that ever lived, or Greeley the biggest liar that ever edited a newspaper.

An eastern exchange has this erratum: "In our paragraph yesterday concerning thirteen ministers who had been spanked in infancy, for spanked read sprinkled.

At the late Plymouth church picnic Mr. Beecher was asked why he did not dance. "There is but one reason," replied he, "I don't know how. The only dancing I ever did was when my father furnished the music, and used me as a fiddle. I took all the steps then."

Licking is the champion sheep county, having 225,640, ar increase of 12,086 over the numbers in 1871. Then follow in order named, Harrison, Guernsey, Belmont, Jefferson, Muskingum, Knox, Columbiana, Carroll, Coshocton, Morrow and Tuscarawas, each of which has above 100,000. Each of the other counties has less than that number.

Franklin county has a larger number of horses than any other county except Hamilton, which has 18,607. Cuyahoga county ranks third in horses, (13,216,) Stark fourth, (13,140), and Montgomery fifth, (12,952). Paulding has the smallest number, 2,810.

"Potatoes!" cried a darky peddler in Richmond. "Hush dat racket—you distracts de whole neighborhood," came from a colored woman in a doorway. "You kin hear me, kin you?" "Hear you! I kin hear you a mile." "Thank the Lord for dat—I'se hollowin' to be heard. Tatoes?"

An advantageous and more reasonable arrangement in regard to the prepayment of newspaper postage has come into operation under the new law than prevailed heretofore. The new postal code provides that on newspapers and other periodicals sent from the office of publication to regular subscribers postage can be paid one quarter or one year, commencing at any date, in advance. Formerly only the regular quarters of the official year could be paid for separately in advance.

Fred Douglass says the reason he can't vote for Greeley is, that he should not know which Greeley he was voting for. The case is much the same with many democrats. They cannot find out whether they would be voting for Mr. Voorhees' democratic Greeley, or Mr. Trumbull's anti-democratic Greeley, or Mr. Ben Hill's right of secession Greeley, or Mr. Sumner's miscegenation-by-force Greeley, or Mr. Greeley's Greeley of this year, last year, or some other year. The trouble seems to consist in too great a number of Greeleys.

Grace Greenwood has found in California among the mountains, a young landlord's wife who is a singularly spirited and original character, an enthusiastic mountaineer, and good rider, climber and shot. In rough Yosemite costume she explores these heights and gorges: she hunts the deer, the fox, the hare, though the wildcat is her specialty. And she is neither dyspeptic, nor paralytic, nor bent double with spinal curvature, nor afflicted with any of the diseases peculiar to women hereabouts. Perdaps if more of our young women hunted husbands less and wild animals more, they would be both healthier and happier, and get better mated into the bargain.

Triumphant for Twenty Years.—More than twenty years ago the Mustang Liniment made its debut in the west. Its cures of the various external diseases of horses and cattle, astonished the planters and farmers of the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, and a demand for it sprung up which necessitated its manufacture on an extensive scale. Soon the discovery was made that it was a grand specific for rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, earache, toothache, and other external ailments of mankind. Then it was tried as a healing, pain killing application, in cases of outward injury such as cuts, bruises, burns, spasms, &c., and was found equally serviceable. The fame of the new remedy for some of the most painful ills that afflict mankind and the lower animals, spread rapidly and the Mustang Liniment soon took rank in every state and territory of the union as a standard cure

"I wish I was dead!" is an expression not unfrequently made use of by the dyspeptic and sufferer from liver disease; the depressed spirits unfitting the mind for anything, and almost driving him to despair. But be of good cheer, there is life and health for you yet, so those that have taken Simmons' Liver Regulator attest. It regulates the liver, dispels despondency, and restores health.

If you desire rosy cheeks and a complexion fair and free from pimples and blotches, purify your blood by the use of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It has no equal for this purpose.

Keanedy's Hemlock Ointment.

The proprietor has by the assistance of eminent physicians nd chemists succeeded in utilizing the medicinal properties contained in the oil, pitch and resin of the hemlock tree, and obtained a valuable preparation to be applied as a salve or plaster for rheumatism, croup, pain or soreness of the back, chest or stomach, piles, salt rheum, scurvy sores, ulcers, bunions, sore corns, frost bites, chilblains, sore breasts & nipples, ringworms, chafing and skin disease of inflamitory nature. M Hessler, Agent, Wholesale Botanic druggist, Cleveland.

It is not a physic which may give temporary relief to the sufferer for the first few doses, but which from continued use brings piles and kindred diseases result in weakening the invalid, nor is it a doctored liquor, which, under the popular name of bitters is so extensively palmed off on the public as sovereign remedies, but is a most powerful tonic and alterative, pronounced so by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris, and has been long used by the regular physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

Dr Wells' Extract of Jurubeba retains all the medicinal virtues peculiar to the plant and must be taken as a permanent curative agent.

Is there want of action in your liver and spleen? Unless relieved at once, the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofulous or skin diseases, felons, blotches, pustules, canker, &c.

Take Jurubeba to cleanse, purify and restore the vitiated blood to healthy action.

Have you a dyspeptic stomach? Unless digestion is promptly aided the system in debilitated with loss of vital force, poverty of the blood, dropsical tendency, general weakness or lassitude.

Have you weakness of the intestines? You are in danger of chronic diaarhœa or the dreadful inflammation of the bowels

Take it to allay irritation and ward off tendency to inflammations

Have you weakness of the Uterine or urinary organs? You must procure instantly relief or you are liable to suffering worse than death.

Take it to strengthen organic weakness or life becomes a burden.

Finally it should be frequently taken to keep the system in perfect health or you are otherwise in great danger of malarial, miasmatic or contagious diseases.

CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. MANHOOD:

How Lost How Restored.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of spermatorrhœa, or seminal weakness, involuntary seminal losses, impotency physical and mental incapacity, impediments to marriage, etc; also consumption, epilepsy and fits, induced by self indulgence or sexual extravagance.

☞ Price in a sealed envelope, 6 cents.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post paid, on receipt of six cents or two post stamps.
